The Shirley Bill Endowed Fund recognizes the centrality of teaching to everything we do in our academic life. What better way of endowing funds that proclaim the importance of teaching to us as individuals and as a Society than by rewarding teaching and by honoring teachers who have had a profound influence in our development as scholars and teachers? Nearly all of us have had at least one professor who has served as a model as a teacher, a scholar, an advisor—or perhaps all three—and have wished for a way to honor this teacher and to show our appreciation for that teacher’s inspiration, time, wise comments, and encouragement. We can honor and acknowledge those teachers by contributing $300 in the name of a particular teacher and designating that contribution to the Shirley Bill Teaching Fund. If you would like to honor other great teachers, please send contributions to: ASECS, PO Box 7867, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109

2017 Graduate Student Conference Paper Competition

The ASECS Executive Board offers an award of $200 for the best paper presented by a graduate student at the Pittsburgh ASECS Annual Meeting (regional meetings do not qualify).

Papers submitted for this award may be no longer than 2500 words plus notes. Papers exceeding this length will be disqualified. Entries MUST be sent via e-mail to the Business Office (asecs@wfu.edu) no later than Monday, April 3, 2017.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture Volume 48

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture is an interdisciplinary journal published annually for the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies (ASECS) by the Johns Hopkins University Press. SECC publishes revised versions of papers read at national and regional conferences of ASECS and its affiliates (including the Society of Early Americanists, Early Caribbean Society, SHARP, etc.).

For the 2017-18 volume (48) the editors encourage theoretically informed, academically rigorous essays that reflect new directions for research in the field of eighteenth-century culture, including literature, history, art history, theater and performance studies, music, ethnic studies, women's and gender studies, etc. Essays from previously under-represented disciplines are particularly welcome. Now digitized as part of Project Muse, SECC is included in the membership fees of Sponsors and Patrons of the Society, and is offered to all members at discount.

In addition to our usual practice of publishing individual papers, we would like to publish at least one entire panel of 3-4 papers on the same subject, prefaced by a short introduction from the panel chair (in the case of double or triple sessions on the same topic, the papers can be collected from different sessions). We are also open to publishing at least one round-table as a "Forum." We think that this will help SECC to highlight new directions or important debates in eighteenth-century studies. If you are interested in this option: if you are a panel chair, please send us a proposal and short abstracts of the suggested papers in advance of asking participants to work on them, but after having ensured that they are willing to revise their conference papers into 5,000 word essays (including footnotes) to check that they are on subjects that will work for the journal's broad interdisciplinary and multicultural audience. If you are a round-table chair, please do the same, after ensuring that participants are willing to polish their presentations, add footnotes and turn what they said into a readable 1,250-1,500 word contribution (including footnotes).

Guidelines for Submission: conference papers presented at regional and national meetings of ASECS and its affiliate societies between JULY 1, 2016 and JUNE 30, 2017 are eligible. Papers should be substantially revised from their conference version and use the Chicago Manual of Style for annotation. Submissions are normally written in English but may include other commonly-used modern European languages, and typically average 20 to 25 double-spaced pages in length. Contributions will be judged according to the highest standards of scholarship by blind review. Authors are thus asked to avoid identifying themselves throughout (any reference to one's own scholarship should be made in the third person). The editors of SECC cannot consider papers already submitted to other journals. The deadline for submission is August 18, 2017.

Electronic submission is preferred: etbannet@ou.edu; Submissions in hard copy may also be sent to:

Guidelines for Annual Meeting Session Organizers and Presenters

The ASECS is committed to making arrangements that allow all members of the society to participate in the annual meeting. Therefore, the ASECS requests that all session organizers and presenters review the following information and take the necessary steps to make their sessions accessible to attendees with permanent or temporary disabilities. While the guidelines listed below have been designed to provide access to attendees with disabilities, many will benefit all convention participants.

Room Setup -- Space has been left for two wheelchairs in each meeting room. Please keep this area and the aisles clear for persons who may be using wheelchairs, canes, crutches, or motorized vehicles. Space should be left around the doors and aisles to allow access.

People who are deaf or hard of hearing and who use sign language interpreters or read lips need to sit where they can see both the speakers and the interpreter. The interpreter may stand close to the speaker or within a direct line of sight to allow the audience to view both the speaker and the interpreter. Speakers should be aware of the location of interpreters and attempt to keep this line of vision clear.

Papers, Handouts, and Audiovisuals -- Participants should bring five copies of their presentations, even in draft form, for the use of members who wish or need to follow a written text. Participants who use handouts should prepare three copies in large-print format (boldface 14- to 16-point font size) and briefly describe or read all handouts to the audience. Avoid colored papers. Participants should indicate whether they want their documents returned.

Consider the possibility that persons in the audience may be blind. Allow ample time when referring to a visual aid or handout or when pointing out the location of materials. Briefly describe the materials.

When not using a projector, turn it off. This reduces background noise and helps focus audience attention on the presenter.

Communication and Presentation -- Speak clearly and distinctly, but do not shout. Use regular speed unless asked to slow down by members of the audience, sign interpreters, or persons using real-time captioning.

Because microphones often fail to pick up voices in the audience, speakers should always repeat questions or statements made by members of the audience. In dialogues or discussions, only one person should speak at a time, and speakers should identify themselves so that audience members will know who is talking.

Avoid speaking from a darkened area of the room. Some people read lips, so the audience should have a direct and clear view of the speaker's mouth and face.

“The Dr. is In”

Skyway Suite B

A journal has asked you to revise and resubmit, but how do you navigate reader comments in your new draft? You know you need to make changes but what is essential and what is suggested?

You have a great idea for an volume of essays. What you now need is a good model for how a collection should be presented and how you can organize your proposal so that when you approach a publisher it is clear, focused, and makes it easy to consider.

This year, “The Dr. Is In” mentoring workshop is expanding to include “The Editor Is In.” There will be short mini-presentations on different aspects of the publishing process for both journal articles and books from writers and editors. We are also offering the option of working one-on-one with an academic or publisher to get specific feedback on your writing.

We are keenly aware that the profession is changing and the concept of a scholarly community is likewise shifting. Thus, we offer this opportunity to faculty from just about every level and circumstance: junior faculty, non-TT faculty, independent scholars, those at 2-year colleges, or with heavy teaching loads--colleagues who need advice and usually cannot find the time to focus on writing during the semester or who lack others to workshop with.

If you are interested in offering your services and expertise, know of colleagues who would be good resources, would like to suggest topics for mentoring, or would like to sign up for mentoring when we complete the list of experts, please contact Rebecca Shapiro at rshapiro@citytech.cuny.edu.

Keep ASECS Growing

The primary mission of the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies is to advance the study and teaching of the eighteenth-century and encourage scholarly work that crosses the boundaries between different academic disciplines. To achieve this, a number of endowed funds have been established from which awards are made to recognize achievements in scholarship and teaching and to assist members needing to travel to special collections or wishing to spend a residency at a major research library with which ASECS sponsors a joint fellowship. These programs are not funded through the regular operating budget of the Society but are made possible exclusively by the generosity of our members. All contributions are tax-deductible [not-for-profit organization under the Internal Revenue Code Section 501 (c) (3)] and will be acknowledged in writing. Please consider making a gift that will allow ASECS to maintain and expand the opportunities and benefits offered to its membership.

THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA PRESS

We invite submissions for the annual Walker Cowen Memorial Prize Competition, awarded to the author of a scholarly book-length manuscript in eighteenth-century studies. Submissions may be in history, literature, philosophy, or the arts. The winner will receive a $5,000 award and will be offered an advance publishing contract from the University of Virginia Press.

Deadline November 1, 2017

WINNER OF THE WALKER COWEN MEMORIAL PRIZE

Citizens of Convenience

The Imperial Origins of American Nationhood on the U.S.-Canadian Border

Lawrence B. A. Hatter

$45.00 | CLOTH

“A truly original work that offers revealing conclusions based on careful research and executed with crisp prose.”

—Peter J. Kastor, Washington University in St. Louis

Beautiful Deceptions

European Aesthetics, the Early American Novel, and Illusionist Art

Philipp Schweighauser

$45.00 | CLOTH

“Beautiful Deceptions is an enthralling book and a masterful narrative on how modernization and European aesthetic theory are played out in the artistic realm of postrevolutionary America.”

—Oliver Scheiding, Transnational American Studies Institute

Spectacular Suffering

Witnessing Slavery in the Eighteenth-Century British Atlantic

Ramesh Mallipeddi

$49.50 | CLOTH

“Mallipeddi’s prose is precise and evocative as he engages with anti- and proslavery texts and important historical documents; his is political and ethical criticism at its most convincing.”

—Suvir Kaul, University of Pennsylvania

Essays in Romanticism

Essays in Romanticism is the official journal of the International Conference on Romanticism, succeeding Prism(s): Essays in Romanticism.

EIR continues the tradition of its predecessor in publishing research on romanticism within an interdisciplinary and comparative framework. More broadly, it welcomes submissions on any aspect of Romantic Studies, and especially work using emergent or innovative perspectives and approaches.

The Byron Journal

The Byron Journal is an international publication published twice annually by Liverpool University Press on behalf of The Byron Society, London. The journal publishes scholarly articles and notes on all aspects of Byron's writings and life, and on related topics.

SApart from providing the leading international forum for authorities on Byron and news of significant events and conferences in the Byron year, the journal also reviews all major works on the poet.

Correspondance de Mme de Graffigny

A fascinating account of life in the mid-18th century [...], splendidly edited in the Correspondance. She knew the greatest figures of the era, was an astute reader of literature and observer of current events. Her letters [...] astonish and delight'

ŒUVRES COMPLÈTES DE
 VOLTAIRE

Micromégas and other texts

Part science fiction, part fable, part critique of the society of his time, and part synopsis of the scientific knowledge of the era, Voltaire's Micromégas is also a meditation on man's place in the universe, between the two infinities of the infinitely great and the infinitely small.
